Inclusive work environment

Diversity brings innovation and new perspectives which we need to provide excellence to the diverse communities which we serve. We actively search for staff talent within all our member countries and strive for fair representation of nationality and gender in our work environment.

We are committed to maintaining an inclusive work environment which enables all staff to make their best contribution. Our policies, practices and processes are designed to support this objective.

Maintaining gender balance: UNFPA is a leader in terms of gender equality and vigorously pursues placement of female candidates in positions of decision-making power.

Measures to prevent and combat discrimination: As part of the UN Cares programme, well-being is promoted among all staff. UNFPA has non-discrimination policies in place, and also does not solicit or screen for information in respect of HIV or AIDS or discriminate on the basis of HIV/AIDS status.

Pursuing the highest standards of ethics & integrity: UNFPA staff members receive training to establish a common understanding of work-place inclusion, ethics and integrity principles, which are fundamental to every aspect of UNFPA's day-to-day work.
